

Wei Zhu

Hello everybody, thank you all for coming today. Before you start to hear my boring speech about why I am the best candidate for associate treasure, I want you to take a moment and think about why you are here. Are you here for the food? The job opportunities? Whatever it is, I think it is safe to say that a lot of us are here for the same reasons.

For those that are unfamiliar with who I am, my name is Wei. I joined the accounting society last semester. Looking back, time seems to have passed by really fast. Not only have I realized how much I have learned from the organization, but how much friends I have made during these two semesters alone. The things that I have taken from this organization, let it be interviewing skills, professionalism or friends that helped me with every step of the way, I am more than confident to say that I have pride in this place. Never once have I ever doubted myself on how much this organization means to me, and now it's my turn to give back.

Whether it's associate treasure or president, I believe our goal is the same, and that is to help the accounting society and BAP grow, to pave the path for the members to success. So call me the associate treasure or the pizza man, I don't care. What I want to do for this organization is too much, and alone I can't do it all. So I need your help. With your help in choosing what you want to eat at the next meeting would be the first thing I want to bring to the table. Every week I plan to have an online poll so that everyone can vote for what they would like. But I think we can all agree that food is not the priority.

Our career that is waiting ahead of us is what we are all here for. The friends that we make and the skills that we learn is what we are here for. For me, all of that is what I am here for; the friends that stood by me and gave me confidence, the skills that I've learned and these wonderful alumni that gives back unconditionally. So here I am taking my first step to give back to the organization. Because it's always an uncertainty where we are heading, together we will choose the direction we go. Vote for me, Wei, as your next associate treasure and together we will find the right way.
